

THE FAMILY MEDIA AGREEMENT

1

SECTION 1: OUR FAMILY VALUES

We agree that technology is a tool for learning, connecting, and fun. But our family health, relationships, and sleep always come first.

Media-Free Zones:

- ☐ Dinner table during meals
- ☐ Bedrooms after 8:30 PM
- ☐ Bathrooms

Media-Free Times:

- ☐ Family meals & outings
- ☐ Homework focus blocks
- ☐ 1 hour before bedtime

2

TRANSITIONS

Ending screen time can be tough on the brain. We agree to use these transition steps to prevent power struggles:

The Transition Warning

Parents give a specific warning (e.g., a “10-minute warning”), or a timer is set beforehand.

The Smooth Log-Off

When time is up, the child agrees to pause or save the game without arguing or delay.

The Reset Activity

After _____ of playing, the child must take a break for a “brain reset” (e.g., have a snack, walk the dog, etc.).

3

NIGHTTIME SLEEP PROTECTION

Quality sleep keeps our brains sharp and our moods happy.

☐ The Docking Station Rule:

All phones, tablets, and gaming devices must be placed on the central charging station located at _____ by 8:30 PM.

☐ The Alarm Rule:

A daily alarm will be set for the exact time when the devices must be placed in the charging station.

4

REPAIR & RECONNECT (WHEN BOUNDARIES SLIP)

Mistakes happen. When rules are broken, we focus on learning rather than punishment.

☐ If the transition time is ignored:

Screen time for the next day is reduced the next day for the amount of time exceeded.

☐ If a device is smuggled into the bedroom:

The device spends 24 hours in the parent’s bedroom.

Parent Commitment:

Parents agree to listen calmly, avoid abrupt device snatching, and lead with examples with their own screen habits.
